

$100,000 Suit Is Filed In Cavanaugh Death

Court Holds Verdict On Green

Solon Loses Motion To Shift Trail

SCRANTON, May 3 (AP)—U. S. District Judge John W. Murphy today reserved decision on a motion to dismiss a conspiracy indictment against Rep. William J. Green (R-Pa.) growing out of charges of corruption in the building of the $33,000,000 Signal Corps Depot at nearby Tobyhanna.

But the judge ruled that he would not consider Green's motion to shift Green's trial from Scranton to Harrisburg. Judge Murphy said that court facilities at Harrisburg are inadequate.

Judge Murphy said he will consider holding the trial after adjournment of Congress. He added that he understood that several defense witnesses will have to be summoned from Washington.

15 Defendants
Green's case was one of many, involving 15 defendants and all related to the alleged Tobyhanna fraud, which were argued today. Some of them involved Scranton labor leaders and contractors who are under indictment on various charges. Decision was reserved all around.

Atty. Joseph P. Brennan told U. S. District Judge John W. Murphy he would seek a "lengthy continuance" because of the nationwide press notice given a recent U. S. Senate committee's probe into labor racketeering.

Brennan's statement was made during hearing of arguments on 42 motions by attorneys representing 15 defendants indicted on similar charges. The motions ranged from requests for outright dismissal of charges to requests for inspection of records and a transfer of some cases to the Federal Court at Harrisburg.

The indictments were returned to the grand jury after an 11-month investigation of the construction work at the Tobyhanna Depot. The defendants include U. S. Rep. William J. Green Jr. (D-Pa.) and former Rep. Herbert McGlinchey, both Philadelphia.

On Behalf
Brennan appeared on behalf of Joseph J. McHugh, Robert K. Malloy and John Durkin, all officers of Local 229, General Teamsters and Helpers Union. The three men were indicted on charges of extortion—specifically that they demanded payments of money from contractors under threat to operate at Tobyhanna. Before the day's hearing on the petitions began, Judge Murphy announced he wished defense and prosecution attorneys to arrange sessions with him as soon as possible to discuss trial dates for the defendants.

Appearing here today on behalf of the government were Oliver Dibble, special assistant to the U. S. attorney general, and U. S. Atty. Robert J. Hourigan.

Brennan, who also represents John P. Gilroy Jr., a prominent Scranton businessman, asked dismissal of the indictments against Gilroy. The latter is charged with conspiracy, using his official position as a government inspector to defraud the government, as well as accepting a bribe.

In asking for dismissal of indictments returned against two other defendants, Joseph L. Downes, Scranton union official, and his brother, Leonard Downes, owner of the Dunmore Iron Works, the defense attorney said the indictment against the two men does not state the specific offense they are alleged to have committed.

Charged
The two defendants are charged with violating a section of the Taft-Hartley Act which forbids a person representing a union to profit from any work done by personnel of that union.

Opposing all motions, Oliver Dibble, special assistant to the attorney general, took the position that all defendants "with normal intelligence" should have been aware of the right to plead the Fifth Amendment. "It has been in the newspapers for the last five or 10 years," he declared.

Brennan also argued that in the case against Gilroy, which includes Rep. William J. Green Jr., Philadelphia, and Frederick Raff, Hartford, Conn., contractor, there is confusion as to "how many" payments of $10,000 were supposed to have changed hands.

Clair Peechacka was the construction foreman. He was assisted by Edward Brong, Chester Cramer, Spencer Tallada and Frederick Mutchler.

In the near future, Ciampi disclosed, his department plans to resurface 1.5 miles of Legislative Route 45067 at McMichaels. The project is expected to cost about $9,500.

Final Role Of McCarthy In Chamber

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will play his final role in death Monday in the U. S. Senate chamber, scene of his rocketing rise and fall on the American political horizon.

Arrangements were announced today for a 30-minute funeral service at 11 a. m. EDT Monday, after which McCarthy's body will be taken from in front of the Senate rostrum and flown to Appleton, Wis., for church services and burial Tuesday.

Truman In Trim, Raps Administration

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Harry S. Truman came to town in fighting trim today and declared the Eisenhower administration is driving him toward socialism.

In his old "give-'em-hell" style, he jumped on Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey for wanting, he said, "to choke us to death with interest rates." And he charged administration policies are forcing the little fellow out of business.

"I'm not a Socialist," the former Democratic president said, "but they're driving me that way." His audience was the Electric Consumers Information Committee, an organization formed by labor and farm groups and the

Eskimo Woman, 4 Children Win $90,805 Suit Against Dingman's Ferry Couple

SCRANTON—An Eskimo woman and her four children have won a $90,805.11 judgment against a Dingmans Ferry man and his wife.

Federal Court in Scranton yesterday allotted that sum to Esther Mayokok and her four children—three of them under-age.

Ordered to pay were David Irwin and his wife, Margaret (also known as Margo), operators of a novelty exhibit at Dingmans Ferry and elsewhere. The exhibit included dogs, bears, a wolf—and, according to the suit against them, four live Eskimos.

Mrs. Mayokok alleged that she and her children were "lured from their home in Alaska to the U. S. to perform in a show." Once on the payroll, however, the suit charged that the Irwins made the woman and children work around-the-clock without proper compensation.

Fair Labor Act
The Eskimo woman filed suit under provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act; said the exhibit was engaged in interstate commerce and subject to Federal law. She was represented by Eli T. Conner, Milford attorney.

Yesterday's action was a default judgment—the Irwins did not contest the suit. It showed that Irwin owed the Eskimos $39,063.36 and his wife owed $51,741.76.

First in Boston
The suit was first filed in Boston where the Mayokok family first appeared in the Irwin show. The woman said she had been hired to work in a "show" which consisted of herself, her children, the animals and an igloo village, at $30 weekly with $25 weekly for each of the children.

The Irwins forced her to work 60 weeks and 80 hours each week for the $30, she said. In an answer to the suit, Irwin and his wife maintained at first that the woman had nullified the contract because she did not appear at a sportsman's show. He also contended they were rightfully wards of the U. S. Department of the Interior's Indian Bureau.

He admitted he had hired Esther Mayokok. But he said she hired her own children.

The initial suit was filed in 1952. It was recently transferred to Scranton district Federal Court because the Irwins maintain their residence in Dingmans Ferry, Pike County, in that district.

When it was moved to Scranton court, the Irwins no longer contested it. The judgment against them was entered by default, therefore.

All Steamed
"You ought not to get me started on it. I'm all steamed up," Truman said when the subject of the government's atomic energy program came up.

He asserted the most dangerous thing facing the country today is what he called an administration plan to "turn the 18 billion or 20 billion dollars of the taxpayers' money that developed the atomic energy program over to private ownership."

"Choke To Death"
When the atom is developed fully, Truman said, it can be the source of all the world's power and bring the great desert areas into flower.

Arms Hope Of Deterring Soviet-NATO

BONN, Germany, May 3 (AP)—Foreign ministers of NATO ended their meeting tonight with a communique declaring the best hope of deterring Soviet attack is the terrible nuclear weapons.

"Pending an acceptable agreement on disarmament," said the ministers, "no power can claim the right to deny to the Alliance the possession of the modern arms needed for its defense."

NATO officials said the Foreign Ministers' Council intended this as its joint retort to Moscow's recent threats and warnings against atomic guided missile bases in Scandinavia, West Germany, Greece and Turkey.

The communique said if the Soviet Union is really afraid of Western defense preparations, it has only to "accept a general disarmament agreement embodying effective measures of control and inspection within the framework of the proposals made on numerous occasions by the Western Powers."

Monopoly
It added the Soviet campaign is aimed at giving Soviet forces a monopoly of nuclear weapons on the European continent and partly remarked:

"Such a situation clearly could not be accepted."

The NATO Council also:

1. Reported "new elements" which promise to limit Communist expansion and subversion in the Middle East—an apparent reference to the Eisenhower doctrine and developments in Jordan where a pro-Egyptian regime has been ousted by King Hussein. The council emphasized "current initiatives" to reinforce the security of Middle Eastern states against possible Communist attack.

2. Said Russia's repression of freedom in Hungary is an obstacle to an improvement of East-West relations. The communique said Moscow is trying to "throw a cloak of oblivion over Soviet repression in Hungary."

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano led members of the North Atlantic Treaty Council in strongly appealing to Russia to release the East Germans into a free and reunified Germany.

Warning
The NATO ministers warned the restless population of East Germany against any imprudence which could only increase their sufferings, and might touch off global conflict if they attempted a Budapest-type revolt.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, who becomes NATO secretary general later this month, was delegated to write a communique embodying these ideas. It was expected to include an urgent plea to Russia for progress on disarmament and East-West problems in general.

Stressing the human as well as political problems involved in the continued division of his country, Von Brentano warned his fellow ministers: "There are situations in which the suffering, caused by oppression, and the moral and material misery reach limits where reason no longer dictates action, and where desperation and a just anger break out with the violence of a volcanic eruption."

Example Again
The West German Minister again used the volcano as an example of the situation in East Germany when he stated: "A system of European security, established without a prior solution of this (German reunification) problem, would be based on a volcano."

Neither Dulles nor Von Brentano said—according to the available portions of their statements in the closed session—what might happen in East Germany if a breaking point is reached. Nor did they mention what NATO's attitude should be in such a case.

Rule On Bangor RR Signal Case
HARRISBURG, May 3 (AP)—The Public Utility Commission today authorized the Delaware and Hudson Railroad to substitute automatic signals for watchmen at its Washington St. grade crossing in Bangor.

Bangor borough officials had protested the change in PUC hearings. The commission, by a 3-2 vote, decided the automatic protection would assure greater safety at the crossing.

Former NAM President Cites College Grads' Weaknesses In Talk To Future Teachers

By Leonard Randolph
COLLEGE GRADUATES show "too much desire to start at the top" in most professions, a main speaker told Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America last night.

Earl Bunting, former president of the National Association of Manufacturers, Washington, was addressing a dinner meeting at the PFTA's sixth annual convention at East Stroudsburg State Teacher College.

Bunting told his audience that he finds these other "major weaknesses" in college graduates seeking careers in business: Careless personal habits, appearance, language, lack of alertness; too much emphasis on "security and retirement"; too much self-assurance and too little self-confidence.

Now the senior partner in the firm of Bunting, Calkins, and Leach, business management consultants in Washington, D.C., the speaker told nearly 450 PFTA members and students that there is a parallel between preparation for business and education careers.

3 Characteristics
He said that the "three most important characteristics" in either field for the aspiring graduate are "integrity — which gives the courage to meet any situation in a fair and forthright manner; intelligence — which gives an orderly approach to broad problems and policies; ability — arising out of demonstrated success in analyzing problems, determining courses of action and directing acts to those ends."

Bunting recommended "the broadest possible academic preparation in courses associated with the liberal arts" as a background for a successful career.

FIRE SCHOOL—This piece of Stroudsburg Fire Department equipment will take part in the first Monroe County Fire School today and tomorrow. Stroudsburg is one of 18 companies taking part in the school at Day St. and N. Fifth St. Proving Grounds. Action begins at 8 a. m. both days.

Mother Seeks Damages In Charging Two

A $100,000 lawsuit has been filed in Monroe County Court by the mother of the late Calvin A. Cavanaugh, 30, of 212 N. Seventh St., Stroudsburg, who died as the result of a highway accident on Route 611 in Stroud Township on May 12, 1956.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Cavanaugh, also of the N. Seventh St. address, is seeking $50,000 from John Petrokonis, 30, of 23-A S. Seventh St., and a similar amount from Charles S. Meixell of 1134 Dreher Ave., and his employer, the C. Graver Trucking Co., of 1007 N. Ninth St.

The complaint alleges that Cavanaugh was a passenger in a 1955 sedan, which was being operated by Petrokonis. The automobile was owned by the former Frances Ryczak, now wife of the defendant.

A Monroe County jury recently convicted Petrokonis on a charge of involuntary manslaughter as a result of the mishap. However, his attorneys are now preparing to argue for a new trial.

Hospitalized
Petrokonis, who was himself hospitalized for more than a month, allegedly was driving north on Route 611 about 2 a. m. when the car crashed into a tractor-trailer operated by Meixell and owned by Graver, police said at the time of the accident.

Meixell was entering the highway with a load of fertilizer, police said further.

As a result of the mishap, Cavanaugh suffered severe head and chest injuries and a dislocated hip. He died in General Hospital two days later after undergoing brain surgery.

Petrokonis told State Police at the time he did not remember who was driving the car when the accident occurred. He said he only remembered entering the car and falling asleep.

Charges Both
However, the lawsuit charges both Petrokonis and Meixell with "joint and concurrent, gross and wanton recklessness, carelessness and negligence."

The complaint alleges that Petrokonis, among other things, failed to "keep a careful and diligent watch" for other vehicles, and that he was driving at a "high and dangerous" speed under the circumstances. It further claims he failed to drive to the easterly side of the highway or stop in time to avoid the collision.

Meixell allegedly entered the highway when the car was approaching at a distance too short for him to enter safely, the complaint further contends. It also charges that he failed to use proper and adequate lights or signals, and failed to steer his trailer-truck out of the right-hand or easterly lane of the highway.

The complaint states that before his death Cavanaugh contributed to the support of his parents.

The suit was filed Thursday by Attorneys James T. Kitson and James R. Marsh of the firm of Shull & Kitson.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Genesis 1:27, 28; 3:9
By Newman Campbell

THE FIRST two verses assigned in today's lesson about the creation of man we had in last week's lesson, so we will not dwell upon them in this long lesson.

Satan in the form of a serpent asked Eve if God had said they were to eat of the fruit of the Garden of Eden. Eve said to the serpent that they were to eat of the fruit of every tree except the one—but if they ate of it they would die. The serpent said they would not die, but would become as gods, knowing good and evil.

Eve saw the fruit was good, so she disobeyed the Lord's command and ate of the fruit and gave some to Adam, and he, too, ate of it. For the first time they knew that they were naked and made themselves clothes from fig leaves.

In the cool of the evening the Lord walked in the garden and Adam and Eve hid from Him. The Lord called to Adam asking him where he was, and Adam said he had hid because he was naked. The Lord asked him if he had eaten of the fruit of the forbidden tree, and Adam said Eve had given him some of the fruit and they had eaten. Eve said, "The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat."

The Lord cursed the serpent and banished Adam and Eve from the garden, telling them that they would henceforth have to till the ground for a living. "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread; till thou return unto the ground; for out of it thou wast taken; for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return," He said.

Adam and Eve had two sons, Cain and Abel, who grew up. Cain was a "tiller of the ground"; Abel a sheep herder. Both men made offerings of the fruits of their labors to the Lord, but the Lord "had respect" to Abel's, but not to Cain's. With anger and jealousy, Cain slew Abel, and when the Lord asked where Abel was, he answered, "I know not: Am I my brother's keeper?"

God told Cain that hereafter he would be cursed. The earth would no longer yield its harvest to him and he would become a fugitive and a vagabond. Cain replied, "My punishment is greater than I can bear." He also said his life would be in danger if men recognized him for the earth's first murderer.

So the Lord set a mark upon him lest he should be killed, and Cain went to dwell in the land of Nod, where he married and had a son named Enosh. Adam and Eve had another son named Seth.

The account of the generations of Adams are recorded in chapter 5, and we cannot include them in our lesson except to speak of Methuselah, who lived to be 969 years of age, the oldest man in all the world.

Now as the people of earth multiplied and intermarried with heathen women, they forgot the Lord their God, and were so wicked that God decided to destroy all the creatures of earth, including men. But one man named Noah was just and God-loving. He had three sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth. God commanded Noah to build an ark in which he and his family would be safe from the terrible flood that was coming. Into it Noah was also to take two-male and female—of all living creatures. When it was built and occupied the rains came and continued for 40 days and 40 nights, until all the earth was buried.

At last the waters began to recede, and the ark came to rest on Mt. Ararat. Noah sent out a raven, which did not return. Then he sent out a dove which came back because there was no place for her to rest.

Again, after seven days, Noah sent the dove out again, and this time she returned with an olive leaf in her mouth. So Noah knew that the waters were drying up.

At last the earth was dry and Noah and all the earth's inhabitants came forth and Noah built an altar to the Lord and offered a sacrifice thereon. The Lord was pleased and promised never again to bring such disaster to the earth, and in token of His promise He caused a rainbow to be seen in the heavens as a "token of a covenant between Me and the earth."

"And all the days of Noah were 950 years; and he died."

Thus did disobedience and corruption bring punishment to the earth, and so does it still bring woe to those who disobey God and transgress His laws and the commands of earthly laws. Let us pray that we be kept from temptation, and if it comes, that we will be given strength to withstand it.

MEMORY VERSE: "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon."—Isaiah 55:7.

Attendance Good At Writing Class ATTENDANCE at Thursday night's session of the East Stroudsburg night school for writers was particularly good, student participation was at a high level and the teacher, Mrs. Frances Kiffin, East Stroudsburg, explained some of the more advanced problems of the fictioneer.

She explained a cardinal weakness of many beginning writers, "Author Intrusion." This, she explained, consists in the author, after having tried strenuously to create the illusion of reality in the mind of the reader, destroys the value of his own work by making some aside comment or explanation, which immediately breaks reader interest. She said that an author who uses past tense and first person in telling his story, can commit the first named offense with a minimum of bad effect.

Point A point of writing that is powerful in its results, if the writer is expert enough to handle it consists in rapidity of incidents following one another, the instructor said. The objective here is to sweep the reader through the story so rapidly that he will not bother to analyze character motivation so minutely.

The teacher called for reports on a test given at a preceding meeting. Mrs. J. Hart of Greentown, Mrs. Rhodes of East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Blanche Berghimer and Barbara Feiden responded.

AND WHAT WILL THEY FIND INSIDE ?

Here's a handsome, happy family marching through the open doors of a church. But what will they find inside?

A lovely sanctuary? Perhaps. A congenial group of people? Perhaps. An inspiring sermon and beautiful music? Perhaps. All these they may possibly find inside. But here is what they will certainly find.

- A group of people banded together by a common faith for a common purpose . . .
 - Assurance that there is a God who cares and loves . . .
 - Direction for the perplexities that each day brings . . .
 - A demand to live as God would have them live . . .
 - A cross as the divine source of faith, hope and love . . .
- And if you go to church next Sunday, that's what YOU'LL certainly find too!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Michigan Learning Folly Of High Tax

If any proof were needed that high state and local taxes drive away industry, it has been furnished by—of all places—Detroit, Mich., the fabulous auto-producing center.

We in Pennsylvania have been stewing for years about our inability to cash in on the vast industrial expansion that has taken place since World War II. The result of various studies has been to prove beyond question that new factories are going to other states because the combination of our state and local taxes has put Pennsylvania manufacturers at a disadvantage.

Most of the new factories went to such states as Ohio and Indiana, with a few going to Delaware and New Jersey. Some factories even located in Ohio close enough to the Pennsylvania border to get the benefits of Pittsburgh steel production, plus the low industry taxes of the State of Ohio.

That's how we outsmarted ourselves—we charged too much for the privileges of doing business (and hiring people) in Pennsylvania. So the business went elsewhere. And why not? In a highly-competitive era, each businessman must look to his costs. If his competitor has lower costs, his competitor will capture the market.

Now it turns out that Michigan, which seemed so assured of a bright industrial future, has made the same mistake Pennsylvania made, in thinking that industry was here to stay and could safely be made to pay heavier taxes.

Michigan missed out on a new steel plant and a number of auto plants. These are new plants, and they've gone to Ohio and Indiana, instead of Michigan, the home state of the auto companies involved. The reason: high local and state taxes.

Pennsylvania just now is fitting itself to bid for new industry, through a few minor changes in the state laws. One of these will exempt manufacturers from the state capital stock tax, effective next Jan. 1, provided the Legislature doesn't countermand the scheduled cut. A few other amendments to tax laws will wipe out nuisance taxes.

The loss of revenues to the state (and the savings to manufacturers) won't be great, but they'll be big enough to give most Pennsylvania communities a chance to compete for some of the industries that now are going elsewhere.

U.S. Relief Agencies Do Commendable Job

The ancient generosity of Joseph, who opened the storehouses of Egypt to feed his starving brethren, has a 20th Century counterpart in the work being done by American overseas relief agencies of the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths.

A report just released by these agencies says food valued at 100 million dollars has been shipped from America's reserves to destitute and hungry Europeans and Asians in the nine months that ended on March 31.

Eighty-four countries—many of them practically unknown to American donors—have shared in this great venture. They have received more than a trillion pounds of foodstuffs through Church World Service, the Catholic Relief Services and the United Jewish Appeal.

Nothing approximating so gigantic an expression of philanthropy has been undertaken since the days of Belgian relief.

It is a display of good will which fulfills the Biblical injunction to "cast thy bread upon the waters..."

George Sokolsky Says...

Republicans To Try To Keep Lanza Scandal Alive As Mayoralty Campaign Gun-Fire

When a city has a budget of nearly two billion dollars, it spends more money than many a country and the man who spends so much is an official of considerable importance. It is not so very long ago that the government of the United States managed to get along on a billion a year, although it has now moved into the stratosphere beyond the comprehension of most taxpayers.

The population of New York City is larger than some European countries (such as Norway, Denmark or Switzerland) and to that must be added at least 1,000,000 visitors a day who come from all over the world to see what ever wonders the town can provide. Policing New York is almost an impossible task because there is so much of it, about 320 square miles with 5,850 miles of streets.

The Mayor of New York, an elected official, is its chief executive officer who presides over 203,000 city employees. Despite the enormity of the task, New Yorkers have rarely bothered in recent times to elect outstanding citizens as Mayor although they have chosen some very colorful personalities such as Jimmy Walker, Fiorello La Guardia, Bill O'Dwyer. Most of the Mayors have been Democrats.

The present mayor of New York, Robert F. Wagner, son of the United States Senator of the same name, is young, charming and effective. He is married and has two sons. The mayor's salary is $40,000 a year and among his perquisites is a home in Gracie Mansion, a beautiful colonial edifice on the East River.

The success or failure of a New York City mayor depends upon the commissioners he appoints, for it is in the various commissions that inefficiency and corruption make themselves evident. Most of the commissioners are paid officials, although there are some, such as the president of the Board of Education, who serve without compensation.

The mayor is elected for a four year term and Mayor Wagner is up for re-election this year. A Democrat, he will encounter no opposition in his own party. Carmine DeSapio, the Democratic leader, proclaiming that Wagner will win by 1,000,000 votes. How correct this estimate is will be seen on election day but the utter bankruptcy of the Republican Party in this city is to be noted by the fact that no distinguished name has been suggested to run in opposition to Mayor Wagner.

In this city, the two party system has broken down, the Republicans here no longer affecting any large element among the voters. Unless some outrageous scandal occurs between now and Election Day, in November, the Republicans are likely to nominate a nonentity who will find that being a candidate without hope of election is profitable because of the advertising value.

Popularity in New York is a psychological quality difficult to attain because of the concentration in this city of men and women whose special addiction is popularity. Actors, actresses, movie stars, national and other officials gather in New York to attract attention to themselves in the hope that they will be given space (with pictures) in the five morning newspapers and three afternoon newspapers of general circulation to say nothing of TV and radio coverage. There are probably two dozen banquets at each noonday and evening meal with several speakers at each, all hoping for a line of type.

Against all this competition, the local gentry have to battle for notice and distinction. Also this is a city of enormous scandals, because it is the center of the really large and important racketeering and swindles. A man in public life always walks a tight rope because even if he, personally, is as honest as a saint, he never can be sure that one of his numerous subordinates does not soil his fingers in the enormous pot of grease that is everlastingly available.

There has been little of this during the Wagner Administration. Current scandal involving "Socks" Lanza, the fish market protection salesman, has thus far not involved any city officials. Scandals to count here must be a better show than any of the professional producers and directors ever came up with.

For instance, Frank Costello's

tattoo during the Kefauver investigation was top-notch theater. The Lanza scandal will be dead before the mayoralty campaign gets moving, although the Republicans will do their best to keep it alive.

Many Skills Enabled Her To Take Job She Liked

By Anne Heywood

In that wonderful fence-white-washing scene in Tom Sawyer, Mark Twain, observing that a thing is worth if you're obliged to do it and play if you're not.

This is especially true where housewives are concerned.

Variety Of Skills
The woman who has only one skill—or more—and has to take whatever job she can get, if the family is to have any extras, is apt to resent it. But to the woman with several skills, who can select the job she really loves and is not obliged to take what she can get, to work is play.

Amelia Finn is a case in point. Before her marriage, Amelia had worked as a secretary and as an editor. Then she married a school teacher and now has two girls, one just over 14, and one 9. While the children were still very young, Amelia decided to become a wage-earner again.

Offered A Job
She made application in several firms and was offered a really good secretarial job, but it wasn't quite what she wanted. Moreover, a full-time job would have required a full-time baby-sitter, which would have all but eliminated her profits.

Fortunately, Amelia had more than one string to her bow and continued to look around. One day, she was offered a job in the direct sales field. Now many women may think, "Ugh, selling," but that's usually the reaction when they have no other choice and cannot find a product they like.

Amelia knew she didn't have to take the job. Furthermore, she was one hundred percent sold on her product.

She is making out so well, now, that the family has moved to a bigger house in the city, bought a summer cottage in Maine and bought a second car.

As far as her work is concerned, Amelia says, "I just love it. I'd never again go back to a confining office job for twice the money. I couldn't stand it. Even when I drive as far as an hour away from home, which I sometimes do, playing is so much more pleasant than being stuck in an office."

Can Be Exciting
As we all know, selling is not everybody's dish to eat. But for the women who love it, it can be wonderfully exciting.

If you are interested in the field, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this newspaper, and I'll send you a list of the good companies in the field.

Remember, everything depends on selling something you honestly like.

If you feel you're foisting an undesirable product on an unsuspecting customer, you'll fail. But if you feel, as Amelia Finn does, that you've got such a worthy product that you're doing people a favor just to tell them about it, you can't miss!

Try and Stop Me

"A city," declares Ted Breton, "is remembered for its food, not its architecture. I remember the French market in New Orleans for the best cup of coffee I ever drank, and Truro, Nova Scotia, for the worst. The finest raisin pie was in Mansfield, O., and the greatest bread at the Army Canteen and Bakers School in Spartanburg, S. C. Any town in Massachusetts will give you as good ginger-bread as you ever ate. I'll take Boston for codfish, Kansas City for steaks, Baltimore for oysters, the monastery at Capistrano for tamales, San Diego for chilli, Seattle for loganberries, London for pork pies, Paris for frogs' legs, and Biloxi for stewed chicken. San Francisco has a biscuit called 'snails,' and Portland, Me., a stew called 'smother,' neither to be found elsewhere."

To this list Jack Koford adds stone crab in Miami, and I nominate the spaghetti at Joe Consolino's, Stamford, Conn. Any readers care to add to this list?

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Federal Revenues Increase, Brighten Tax Cut Prospect

Washington, May 3—Prospects for a cut in personal taxes are getting brighter and brighter right along.

They are due for a big boost in a forthcoming report on federal revenue.

It is running around $3,400,000,000 higher than last year.

That means this huge increase coupled with a sizable slash in the new budget should make possible a tax reduction of some kind.

The cheering news about the hefty rises in government income will be contained in a report to be published the middle of May by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, headed by Rep. Jere Cooper (D., Tenn.) and Senator Harry Byrd (D., Va.).

This significant compilation will disclose a marked jump in every major source of government income.

The final totals are still incomplete. But their record-breaking nature is clearly indicated in the soaring figures already in hand. Foremost among these extraordinary amounts are the following:

Income taxes—running at $27,792,938,747, against $25,399,111,229 last year. In the Joint Committee's report this $2,393,227,518 boost is expected to wind up close to $2.5 billion.

Excise taxes—running at $13,984,905,006 as compared to $13,372,884,171 in 1954. This is an increase of more than $600,000,000.

Possible Hike—On the basis of these unannounced preliminary returns, leaders of the House Ways and Means Committee have quietly begun work on a tax saving measure.

Rep. Jere Cooper (D., Tenn.), chairman, and Rep. Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.), head of the tax-writing Subcommittee, are doing that with the vigorous approval of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D., Tex.), and Majority Leader John McCormack (D., Mass.). They are convinced the Republicans will press for a tax cut, and are determined to beat them to it.

But both parties may run into a serious hitch—about which very little has been said in public.

This is the inescapable fact that defense spending in the current fiscal year, ending June 30, will be $3 billion greater than the previous year. As of April 16 the contrasting totals are: $31,160,484,278 to $27,919,213,547 in 1955.

This massive increase in military expenditures is almost certain to adversely affect the $1.7 billion budget surplus forecast by the President in his annual message.

An appreciable reduction in this estimated surplus would not necessarily block a tax cut. But it could potentially affect the nature and size of a reduction. That's why the extent of a budget surplus is so important.

The tax saving plan favored by Speaker Rayburn and his leaders is to increase personal exemption from $600 to $700 effective next January 1.

Estimated revenue "loss" from that is $2.5 to $4 billion. Representative Eugene McCarthy (D., Minn.), another Committee member, is proposing a substitute in the event the personal exemption plan becomes inadvisable due to the lack of an ample budget surplus.

McCarthy's alternative is to grant deductions for social security taxes.

The Treasury estimates this would "cost" $1 billion in annual revenue.

Savings to individual taxpayers, according to McCarthy, would range from a few dollars to $20, with an average of around $14.

Social Whirl—Representative Jim Wright (D., Tex.) has encountered a new occupational hazard in the Capital. It's "exhausted smiling muscles." In explaining this unusual ailment to a colleague Wright said: "Smiling muscles are right behind your ears, and you can tell when they have been strained when your scalp starts feeling tight and you get a pounding headache" . . . Mink, white ties, and champagne and all the rest of the trimmings were the order of the evening all over town. But a newspaper gal carried off honors as the best-dressed, Mary McNaughton, popular local society reporter, was widely acclaimed for the most beautiful gown—a sort of Grecian creation, with floating panels topped with at sole of sheer white chiffon and a bodice of satin with delicate crystals . . . A "Tyrolean Evening," hosted jointly by Budget Director and Mrs. Brundage and Austrian Ambassador and Mme. Gruber, turned out to be everything but that. The latter wore Tyrolean costumes, but they were the only ones. The guests were attired in everything from Indian costumes, to Chinese, Greek, Arabian and South Sea Island get-ups. Stars of the evening were White House assistant Sherman Adams and his wife, who made a big hit as square dancers.

Rep. Jere Cooper (D., Tenn.), chairman, and Rep. Wilbur Mills (D., Ark.), head of the tax-writing Subcommittee, are doing that with the vigorous approval of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D., Tex.), and Majority Leader John McCormack (D., Mass.). State Future Teachers Parley Opens

STC's Bjorn Presides At Initial Meet

NEARLY 300 students from all areas of Pennsylvania attended the opening sessions of the ninth annual State Future Teachers of America convention at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College yesterday.

The outgoing president of the PFTA is Walter A. Bjorn, a graduating senior at ESSTC, star athlete and leader in Future Teachers affairs on the local campus throughout his college career.

Bjorn's election last year marked the first time in PFTA history that an East Stroudsburg student had been so honored.

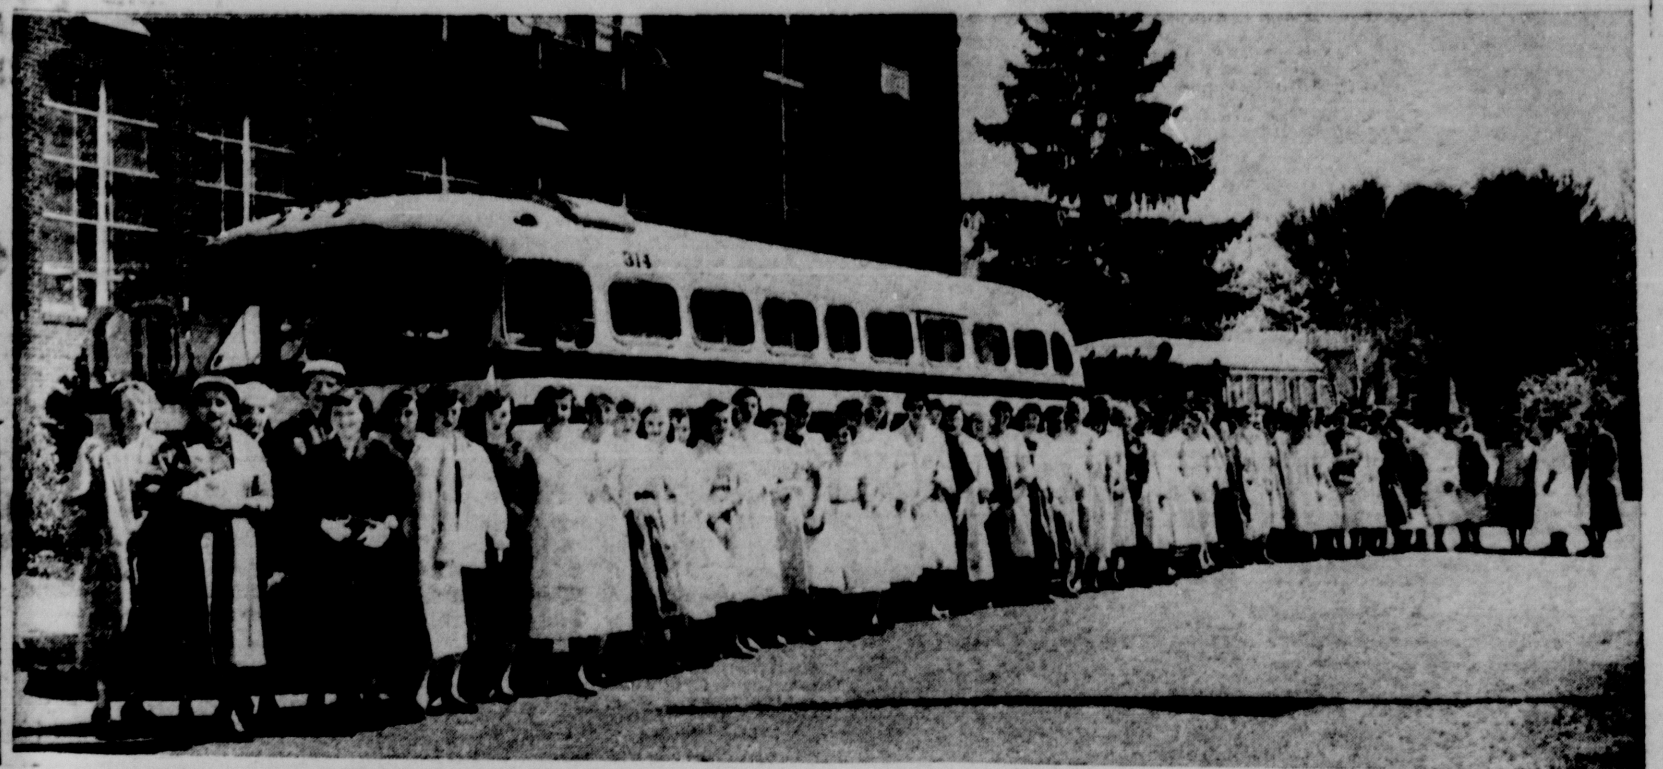

Yesterday's opening session began at 2 p.m. with a general session in the campus auditorium at which Donald G. McGarry, school of education, Pennsylvania State University, delivered the keynote address. Other main speakers included Dr. Francis B. McGarry, dean of instruction at ESSTC; Kermit M. Stover, president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and Harold J. Koch, president of the PSEA Department of Classroom Teachers, Hazleton.

Review Work

The major portion of yesterday afternoon's opening conference was devoted to a review of the organization's activities during the past year. Reports were heard from various committees.

Today's sessions will begin at 7:30 a.m. with a cafeteria breakfast for all delegates attending. A general session will be held at 9 a.m. with Bjorn presiding.

Theme of the 10 a.m. workshop will be "It Takes Team Play." During this session delegates will attempt to determine ways in which the resources of the teacher and the schools can best be used to serve gifted children, those who are retarded, building better teacher-pupil relations and working out a program for good community-school relations. New officers will be named at the afternoon session.

FUTURE FLORENCE NIGHTINGALES — can soothe a lot of fevered brows and materially affect the shortage of nurses if they persist in their interest in nursing as a career. The picture was taken yesterday morning when the girls, representing five of the county's high schools, prepared for a field trip to Bethlehem, planned and sponsored by the Woman's Aux. to the Monroe County Medical Assn. Heading the line Miss Charlotte Shupp R. N., Mrs. John Martocci, Mrs. T. I. Metzgar, Mrs. Horace Butler, of the Med. Aux.; and Mrs. Jacob Kintz, R.N. The group visited the medical department of Bethlehem Steel and St. Luke's School of Nursing.

WVPO Joins In Radio Week Program

RADIO STATION WVPO will join with radio outlets across the nation tomorrow in beginning observance of National Radio Week May 5-11.

Chester S. Miller, manager of the local station, announced last night that a joint proclamation has been signed by Hal H. Harris, Burgess of Stroudsburg and Jesse R. S. Flory, Burgess of East Stroudsburg, setting aside this week as a time for tribute to radio's role in the community.

National Radio Week is co-sponsored by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, the Radio Advertising Bureau, the Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Association and the National Appliance and Radio-TV Dealers Association.

Open House

WVPO has issued an "open house" invitation to all individuals during the week-long observance. Everyone is invited to visit the station any time during the day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Groups or organizations who wish to visit the station are asked to phone WVPO at 1101 to make special arrangements.

In announcing the open house, Miller noted that radio's major growth has occurred during the post-World War Two period. There are more than 3,000 AM stations on the air now as opposed to 1,520 in pre-war days.

The statistics achieve new importance, Miller said, when they are viewed "in context"—that radio has grown rapidly during an era which was, supposedly, confined to the growth of TV outlets in the nation.

Eager To Get Back

LONDON, May 3 (U)—Charles H. Kensett, 27, told the detective who arrested him for loitering with intent to steal that he was eager to get back to prison in time for the cowboy films shown at Christmastime. The judge obliged with a 13-month sentence.

East Stroudsburg Merchants Initiate Plans To Open Drive To Create New Businesses

EAST STROUDSBURG Merchants Association this week began to draw up plans for an aggressive drive which would increase its own membership and create new business potentials for the borough.

At a dinner meeting Thursday night at Chariton's Lodge, merchants also discussed plans for improvement and beautification of the Crystal St. section.

Don Heller, organization president, was in charge of the meeting. There were 28 merchants in attendance.

The membership committee, headed by Jerry Jacobs, reported that it is going to make a membership drive on a full-scale level this month. The committee has as its goal the enrollment of all merchants in the borough by the first of June.

Interest Rising

Jacobs pointed out that interest in the organization is rising sharply. This has been reflected, he said, in the number of persons attending recent meetings.

In order that the organization may be able to move ahead toward a bigger and better business community, Jacobs said, it will be necessary that it have the full cooperation of all borough merchants. Each merchant brings to the group his own thinking and his own ideas.

Area Jaycees Plan Teenage Road-E-O

MONROE COUNTY youngsters will have another chance to display their driving skills and, at the same time, prove that it takes more than speed and daring to make a good motorist.

They'll get this opportunity to show their stuff May 11th when the Pocono Mountains Junior Chamber of Commerce conducts another Teen Age Road-E-O.

Irving Karpe, chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge of the program, said youngsters up to 20 years old may get their applications at Stroudsburg, Pocono Township and East Stroudsburg High Schools, and the YMCA, The Daily Record, Herb's Men's Shop, and the Karpe Insurance Agency.

Written Tests

Written tests will be given at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, he said. Road tests will also be given in that vicinity. Driver education cars will be used, and insurance and all other items have been taken care of by the Jaycees.

The national finals will be held in Washington, D.C. in August. National winners will receive scholarships totaling $4,500. Moreover, the winners of all state contests will receive an all-expense paid trip to the capital.

Some 300,000 teen-agers participated in the 1956 Road-E-O. Every state, as well as the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Alaska, were represented.

WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER?

COPYRIGHT 1957, BUREAU OF ADVERTISEMENTS OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

"I go over the ads every day...it's part of reading the newspaper"*

Ask ten different people why they read the daily newspaper and you'll probably get ten different answers. That's because the newspaper offers so much under one roof to interest people—local and world-wide news, sports, comics, fashions, gardening, home planning, business news, teen-age columns, human interest pictures, entertainment news, and a whole roomful more.

Newspaper reading is a local habit done on a national scale. And one habit common to almost all newspaper readers is shopping the paper. As the lady in our illustration says, "It's part of reading the newspaper." That is one of the fundamental reasons why an all time high of almost 57,000,000 newspapers are eagerly bought—and read—every day.

The newspaper is a basic need in peoples' lives and is naturally a basic selling tool for all kinds of advertisers—national, regional and local.

Is it your basic advertising medium?

IN THE MIDDLE of Guatemala's Peten jungle stand the ruins of Tikal, hub of more than three hundred Mayan cities some three thousand years ago. At its height, Tikal was populated by 500 thousand people and its fine roads and rural homes extended thirty miles from its center. A thousand years before the birth of Christ, Tikal was ruled by an intelligent, cultured race. Today, Tikal lies in the forest, silent and deserted. Six pyramid temples rise as high as 188 feet above the jungle floor and stone pillars are toppled about on the ground. The University of Pennsylvania has recently signed a contract with the Guatemalan government and will spend several million dollars on a long-term restoration and investigation project under Dr. Edwin Shook. Prospective Area Nurses On Field Trip

GIRLS FROM FIVE of the county's high schools, interested in nursing as a career, yesterday visited the dispensary of Bethlehem Steel Co., and St. Luke's School of Nursing in Bethlehem, in a field trip sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary to the Monroe County Medical Society in conjunction with their nurse recruitment program.

Two buses and one private car transported the 67 girls to Bethlehem. At Bethlehem Steel they were met by Miss Madeline Shaw, superintendent of nurses, Bethlehem Steel with its 23,000 workers for the 14th consecutive time was awarded the national safety award. There are 28 full-time nurses on the staff, six dispensaries and 6 full-time physicians, she said.

The group made a complete tour of the dispensary where each phase was discussed by the personnel, involving first aid, sterilization, X-ray, laboratory, physiotherapy and the medical records department.

At St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing, they were welcomed by Miss Johnson, educational director of nursing. They were escorted through the educational department and residence staff. Among their guides was Miss Patricia Dodson, first president of the Future Nurses Club of Stroudsburg High School. Miss Dodson is completing her second year and is a representative of the Student Nurses Association of Pennsylvania.

A highlight of their visit was the showing of a film, "My Cap Is My Crown." Refreshments were served.

The schools who have organized Future Nurse Clubs sent representatives as follows: Tobyhanna Township, Mrs. Alberta Hayes, advisor, 11 girls; Pocono Township, Mrs. Edward Horn, Jr., advisor, 10 girls; Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Claire Shiffin, advisor, 10 girls; East Stroudsburg, Miss Charlotte Shupp, advisor, 7 girls; Stroud Union High School, Mrs. Jacob Kintz, advisor, 24 girls.

Three Medical Auxiliary members chaperoned the trip: Mrs. John Martucci, Mrs. Monroe Butler, president of the Medical Auxiliary, and Mrs. Thomas Metzgar, nurse recruitment chairman for Monroe County.

650 Clergy, Laymen To Attend Lutheran Ministerium Parley

By Paul Carlson
BUCK HILL FALLS—More than 650 clergy and laymen are expected to attend the 210th annual convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania to be held at The Inn here May 20-23.

One of the topics most likely to draw interest will be further discussion of the practice of Holy Communion in the Church. The matter evoked lively debate at last year's session in Harrisburg.

The topic will be brought up at a ministerial session at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 21. The clergy-men are then expected to make certain recommendations which will be presented to the synodical conference.

Another important item will involve a discussion of realigning the congregations of the synod into smaller, more efficient districts.

120 Parishes

At present, the Allentown Conference consists of about 120 parishes. However, if the proposed plan were adopted, the churches would be organized into districts with 25-30 parishes.

The sessions will get underway at 4 p.m. Monday, May 20 following registration and Communion enrollment. At that time, a program will be adopted and several reports will be presented.

Following additional reports Tuesday morning, the Ministerium will honor pastors observing the 50th anniversary of their ordinations. This will be followed by the first address of Dr. F. Eppling Reinartz, representative of the United Lutheran Church.

Elections are expected to be completed at noon Wednesday. That afternoon, the Rev. Francis A. Shearer will be installed as executive secretary of the Board of Inner Missions.

Dr. Reinartz

At 9:05 a.m., Thursday, the Ministerium will hear an address by Dr. Reinartz, who is also a representative of the Lutheran World Federation. Following the talk, the Committee to Survey the Structure and Functions of the Ministerium will make its report. It is this committee which will discuss the matter of aligning the congregations.

Candidates for ordination will also be presented Thursday morning.

Plan 'F' For Rt. 611 Bypass

An alternate plan for establishment of a Route 611 bypass in Monroe County has been submitted to the Pennsylvania Highway Department by the Citizens Bypass Committee. This plan, which in almost every aspect of consideration, appears to be infinitely more advantageous to the majority than the proposed route the Commonwealth has along with a handful of local politicians arbitrarily is trying to force directly through the valuable heart of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

Another advantage would be gained in Plan F. This conceives of rerouting Route 209 on the new 611 Route north from Wind Gap. Thus the dual highway from a point near Snyder'sville would be a combined route—209 and 611—to a point northeast of East Stroudsburg, where 209 would feed back into its current road. In its engineering prospectus dealing with the preference of Plan A, the Highway Department envisions dualization of 209 from Snyder'sville into Stroudsburg, at great cost, and the loss of much valuable real estate. Under the committee's plan, this section of highway would continue to serve the Stroudsburgs as a feeder road from Snyder'sville and other points south.

Officially, the two road schemes are known as Plan A, the Commonwealth's preferred route and Plan F, the alternate proposal submitted to the Highway Secretary Joseph L. Loefer by the committee. Plan F would loop north over the Stroudsburgs, through Snyder'sville, and then south, with adequate interchanges and feeder roads connecting the boroughs from a point near Delaware Water Gap to a point near Eastonville.

The Highway Department plan is being pushed by officials and supported by a number of influential figures who might be advanced by receipt of property damages, would rather through valuable tax property in both boroughs. Instead of serving the cause of decreasing interborough congestion, this route in many cases, would increase it.

After surveying these two alternate routes, and considering their relative impact on the community, one is hard pressed to understand what selfish forces have moved the Highway Department to thrust Plan A on the people. Their arguments in support of the route through the boroughs just do not take into full consideration the elements of intelligent modern highway planning. These elements include social, economic and aesthetic values, as well as the job of moving traffic. Such factors should be coordinated with the future in mind, whereas traffic engineers are more likely to confine their efforts merely to the job of building a road and passing traffic on it.

These are circumstances which should give pause to residents, to business and industrial interests in Monroe County. To our view, their welfare would be more adequately served now and far into the future, by the alternate plan offered by the citizens committee. Certainly this plan is entitled to thorough and respectful consideration by the officials who, in the final analysis, will make a decision.

April 26, 1957

Intelligent Highway Planning?

Maj. Gen. George Richards, the Commonwealth's deputy secretary of highways, said in Easton on Tuesday night that the Rt. 611 bypass plan drawn for a Monroe County Citizens Committee by competent engineers would create an "economic wall" to cut off northward development of the Stroudsburgs and hinder the movement of shoppers from resort areas to and from the twin boroughs.

This evaluation isn't very impressive on the basis of experience across the nation in limited access highway planning. It is even less attractive—and questionably qualified—when one considers that the plan was just submitted to the Highway Department last week, and there has not been sufficient time for competent professional examination.

The citizens committee's Plan F calls for a limited access bypass running north a few miles north of the Stroudsburgs from a point near Delaware Water Gap to Bartonsville, with adequate interchanges feeding down to serve the busy boroughs, and overpasses or underpasses to carry existing North-South roads over the dual highway. The grades and curves are milder than Plan A, supported by Gen. Richards, Democratic county chairman Van Yetter and other influential parties.

Plan A would hammer right through the heart of both boroughs, wiping out valuable domestic, commercial and industrial properties, reflecting on municipal revenue in tax losses. A great Chinese Wall of earth fill—decreasing flood runoff channels—and deep cuts would split both boroughs, isolating their northern sectors from the southern sectors. Is this intelligent highway planning—planning that takes into consideration social and economic factors, as well as the traffic movement factor?

The major argument against bypass highways—the contention that they injure the economy of local communities—has been discredited in practice. One need only examine the growth of communities bypassed by the Pennsylvania Turnpike as an example of this. Local businessmen feared harm, and fought diversion of Route 30 traffic to the high speed toll expressway. Instead they have prospered. The Lehigh Valley Thruway (Rt. 22) skirts Allentown and Bethlehem to the north; business and domestic growth has been stimulated in the north. The Thruway ripped through the heart of Easton, and the community has suffered mightily as a result.

Plan A is not without merit. But when it is evaluated against Plan F, merit becomes relative, and the more advantageous choice appears to be the latter. It is certainly entitled to more thorough and objective official consideration than that given by Gen. Richards.

Rt. 611 Bypass Unit Entitled To Fair Hearing

One is inclined, after examining the contentions of the Citizens Bypass Committee of Monroe County, to agree that today's highway planning and construction decisions, as it was pointed out by John T. Howard, associate professor of city planning at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, are too important to leave exclusively to the highway engineers.

Professor Howard contends that carrying traffic is only a function of our highways, not their purpose. That purpose is community service. In the Stroudsburgs, there appears to be considerable room for questioning whether this purpose—involving the county's future economic security—will be most adequately served by the current official attitude on the proposed relocation of Route 611.

The Bypass Committee has an extremely convincing case against relocating 611 through the heart of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. But the committee obviously has not received a proper audience from state and other public officials who are responsible for this multi-million dollar relocation program.

The committee, however, has won an important skirmish. It has extracted from state authorities an agreement to comply with the federal law (enabling legislation passed by the 84th Congress for the 150 billion federal-state highway program) calling for public hearings. It has been understood by the leaders in this fight against routing the limited access expressway through the Stroudsburgs, that no such hearings were contemplated.

Our inclination, after considering the peremptory manner in which government thus far has misused the Rt. 611 relocation issue in Monroe County, is to wonder what substantial reasons might underlie official refusal to give proper consideration to the opposition voice. One does not have to encase the argument in opposition to routing this expressway through the two boroughs to advocate fairer, more responsible attention to the committee's contentions.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The increasing proportion of women who work outside of their own home has been the subject of many an article, pro and con, and far be it from us to be left out of any conversation under any circumstances.

At the moment, let's defend the proposition that women usually leave housework for the marts of trade from economic pressure rather than natural inclination. In support of which theory, I'll add my own scholarly research which involved going down the list of badges earned by the Monroe County Girl Scouts this past year, putting a one after the highest number, two after the second highest and so forth.

So what does the younger generation choose first of all? Hospitality that's what; with child care running a close second; and housekeeper, cook and backyard camper tied for third. Conservation came in fourth and homemaker, fifth.

In fact if you add home nurse, needlecraft, dressmaker badges, the domestic arts accounted for well over half of the 526 badges earned this year. (This bit of research involved adding the number of badges, and dividing them into the total, so don't count on its accuracy.)

Even with my arithmetic, however, such figures would seem to indicate that women, at least at an early age, prefer the domestic life to such off-beat work as beekeeping, architecture, salt water or wood.

Even if the figures don't indicate any such thing, they do show that our Girl Scouts have learned a lot of new skills, which should prove very useful to their mothers, now, and help them get husband later. Why else do you think twice as many picked "hospitality" as picked "homemaking"? Besides which the seniors can prepare and serve a very appetizing and attractive meal, as all members of the council can testify after that wonderful dinner Thursday night.

Miss Cesare Is Bride Of F. A. Gunsser

Bangor — St. Roch's Catholic Church, West Bangor, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Jeanette A. Cesare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Cesare, Pen Argyl to Fred A. Gunsser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Gunsser of Jim Thorpe, on Saturday. Rev. James P. Gallagher officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin. The scalloped cameo necklace was embroidered with sequins and the bouffant skirt had double row of tulle ruffles at the hemline. A crown of lace trimmed with seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion. She carried Veris lilies with lemon leaves in a cascade bouquet.

Judy Faust of Kingston was maid of honor. She wore a dress of aqua net over taffeta with lace trimming and carried a cascade bouquet of majestic daisies with lemon leaves.

Agidlo Patrick Paloni of Pen Argyl was best man, and the ushers were John Gunsser of Jim Thorpe and Thomas W. Cesare of West Bangor.

Bangor Youth Center Set For Annual Minstrel Show

BANGOR—Adult council members of the Beehive, Bangor Youth Center, devoted their monthly session Thursday night principally to final preparations for next week's annual Beehive Minstrel Show.

A last minute change found Herman Edwards, adult council member and former Beehive supervisor, agreeing to replace Rodney Miller as interlocutor. A new evening employment schedule interferes with Miller's part in the production. Edwards served as interlocutor during the year in which he was Beehive supervisor.

Because of the minstrel, the Beehive will be closed Friday evening, May 10. It will be open a half-hour later (till 11:30 p.m.) on Saturday, May 11, when a party climaxes the closing minstrel presentation.

To Close May 21
The adult council also voted to close the center the evening of primary election day, May 21, when the quarters are used for voting, and also the evening of Memorial Day, May 30. As a result, substitute supervisors will be used only on May 16, when Mrs. Daniel Joella will be in charge, and on June 6, when it will be Joseph Menecola.

Annual Dance
The annual dance at the Blue Valley Farm Show, featuring the coronation of the Beehive's King and Queen, will take place some evening of the week of June 17. The center will close for the summer on Friday, June 21.

Saturday, June 22, has been selected as a tentative date for the first annual "dutch treat" dinner of adult council members and their wives or husbands.

Council members attending the meeting were Mrs. Abraham Sander, Mrs. Milton Godshalk, Mrs. Daniel Joella, Mrs. Samuel Schatz, Mrs. Clair Peilly, Mrs. James Rowlands, Mrs. Idris Williams, Herman Edwards, Joseph Menecola and Earl Kressler, who presided.

Catty Halts Stroudsburg Skein, 10-4

Mountaineers Blow Four-Run Lead Via 10 Errors In Field

STROUDSBURG HIGH's five-game winning streak came to a halt yesterday as Catawauqua High capitalized on 10 miscues to hand the Mountaineers a 10-4 setback in a Lehigh Valley League game at Gordon Giffels Field.

The Mountaineers lost an early four-run lead as the Rough Riders came riding through for two runs in the fourth, and four runs each of the fifth and sixth frames.

Jimmy Snyder, a lefthander, started for the Mountaineers but went out in the fifth. Tom Gross and Frank (Buddy) Radler followed the hitless unbeaten Stroudsburg southpaw to the hill. Snyder took the loss.

Stroudsburg hopes for another win rose high in the third inning when the Mountaineers scored four times. Hits by Dick Cramsey, Ron Stopp and Bill Schoonover did the damage.

Catty came back with a pair in the fourth to make it 4-3 and then with the help of errors and some lousy hitting broke into the lead for good in the fifth with a four-run outburst.

Dick Cramsey paced the Mountaineers at bat with two hits. All told Stroudsburg was only able to pick up five off Al Leibenguth, the winning pitcher.

The victory gave Stroudsburg a 2-1 record in the LV. It was Catty's first triumph in three games. Other Lehigh Valley scores yesterday saw undefeated Northampton defeat Lehigh, 9-1, unbeaten Palmerton shut out Emmaus, 1-0, and Bob Gontkowski hurled a no-hitter to give Whitehall a 6-1 verdict over Emmaus.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 3 (AP)—Don Newcombe extended his winning streak over St. Louis to nine games with a five-hit shut-out tonight as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Cardinals 6-0 to even the series at one victory each.

The Dodgers collected only eight hits off three Cardinal pitchers but utilized six of them for all their runs. Carl Furillo and Junior Gilliam drove in two runs each. Don Zimmer and Gino Cimoli batted in the other two.

Ten Will Go To Post In 'The' Derby

By John Chandler

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP)—Kentucky, noted for its fine thoroughbreds and potent bourbon whiskeys, becomes the center of the sports world again tomorrow when 10 colts match speed and stamina in the 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

Ten will go, that is, if the Calumet Farm's Gen. Burke recovers sufficiently from a bruised left front foot in time to enter the starting gate at approximately 4:30 p.m., EST, for the mile and one quarter classic.

Co-Favorites

The Calumet ace, along with his stablemate, Iron Liege, had been listed as the favorite combination for the $125,000-added 3-year-old duel until the Duke re-injured his foot while finishing second to Federal Hill in Tuesday's Derby Trial Stakes.

That immediately shifted the odds in favor of his arch rival, the speedy Bold Ruler from the Wheatley Stable of Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps of Palm Beach, Fla., and New York. Bold Ruler remained the choice at 5 to 1, while the Calumet pair, pride of Mrs. Gene Markey's Lexington, Ky., stable, was listed at 2 to 1.

Machen Gains 2nd Verdict Over Maxim

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (AP)—Youthful Eddie Machen, No. 2 aspirant for a heavyweight title shot from San Francisco, made ring-wise Joey Maxim of Miami, Fla., his 21st consecutive victim tonight with a unanimous 10-round decision in a nationally televised Kentucky Derby Eve fight.

Machen, 190½, turned in his second straight victory over the former light-heavyweight champion without too much trouble.

Maxim weighed 189. All three officials gave 24-year-old Machen the decision by a substantial margin. Referee Paul Matchuny gave the youthful title contender the fight 49-43 of the National Boxing Assn.'s system of a maximum of five points for each round.

STC Nips Trenton 3-1 In 13th Canto

TRENTON—East Stroudsburg Teachers pushed across two runs in the 13th inning to gain a 3-1 decision over Trenton STC here yesterday.

Butch Hartman, a stout-hearted portside, pitched all the way for the Warriors to give his mates their fourth victory in six outings.

Stags Wallop Honesdale For 2nd Straight

HONESDALE—The second straight victory in the young season notched by the Stags of Greene-Dreher-Sterling High with a 9-3 defeat of Honesdale yesterday, in a Wayne Conference game.

Henry Arneberg's Stags were never headed after Don Olsonmeyer's first inning homer. They held a 4-0 lead at the end of the third, and had scored three more before Honesdale was able to score its first run in the bottom half of the fourth inning.

Another seventh inning homer by Hinds was the frosting on the cake. Left-fielder Hinds had a two-for-three record at the plate with Don Olsonmeyer, playing shortstop, hitting two for four, and Butler, R. Olsonmeyer, and Robacker, each hitting successfully.

All The Way

Boz Haag went all the way as pitcher, allowing only 5 hits, striking out 13 and allowing 9 bases on balls. Bodewalt was the losing pitcher, striking out 5, walking 5 and allowing 8 hits.

Gregory and Bloomgren each got two hits for Honesdale while Romick coming up with the only other hit for the losers.

Braves Edge Buccos In 11th

PITTSBURGH, May 3 (AP)—Hammerin' Hank Aaron, who earlier had knocked in four runs on a double and a homer, tripled in the 11th inning tonight and then scored the winning run on Bobby Thomson's single as the first-place Milwaukee Braves edged the skidding Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7. The victory, 12th in 14 games for the Braves, enabled them to retain their two-game margin over the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hickman Hurls And Bats Cavaliers To 6-4 Victory

CURT HICKMAN pitched and batted East Stroudsburg High to its second victory in the Lehigh-Northampton League yesterday as the Cavaliers downed Nazareth, 6-4 at Memorial Stadium.

Hickman set down the visitors with five hits and struck out 12, beside being instrumental in all three Eastburg two-run rallies.

Bob Herman's terrific blast over the grandstand in the fifth frame started the Cavaliers on the road to victory.

The victory boosted the Cavaliers' L-N chances and gave the proteges of Jack Kist a 2-1 league log. Over-all Eastburg is 3-4 on the season. Both of the Eastburg victories were chalked up by Hickman, a lefthander.

Except for an early 1-0 lead, Nazareth got back in the game despite Cavaliers two-run spurts in the third, fourth and fifth frames.

The Blue Eagles tallied three times in the fifth to tie the score at 4-4 but Kist's boys got what proved to be the clinchers on a Herman's tremendous homer over the press box in center field, and hits by Evan Reese, Hickman and Kassner.

Go Ahead

After Nazareth took a 1-0 edge, the Cavaliers went ahead 2-1 in the third on safeties by Hickman and Kassner and two Eagle miscues.

Eastburg made it 4-1 in the fourth on baseknocks by Hickman, Dale Metzgar and Frank Lupin and a base on balls to Reese.

Ed Buss and Jack Garr shared the mound duties for Nazareth with Garr, the last hurler, taking the loss.

Dick Hunt was the big gun for Nazareth, garnering a 3-for-3 day to share individual hitting honors with Hickman who also went 3-for-3.

Yankees Dump Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, May 3 (AP)—Don Larsen, who pitched a perfect game in last year's World Series, won his second game of the season today, as the New York Yankees dropped the Kansas City Athletics 8-5.

Larsen, pitching in relief of starter Bob Turley, had allowed the A's to tie the score at 5-5 in the sixth inning. But gave up only one hit in the last three innings as the Yanks strengthened their hold on second place 2 1/2 games behind the Chicago White Sox.

Redlegs Top Giants On HR

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Pete Whisenant slammed a pinch hit home run with two mates aboard in the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Redlegs victory in an 11-10 slugfest with the New York Giants tonight. Whisenant's wallop, off rookie lefthander Pete Burnside, offset a five-run Giant rally in the sixth, highlighted by Hank Sauer's fifth home run of the season with two on.

Bangor Bows To Wilson In L-N, 5-4

WILSON—Bangor High staged a rally in the seventh inning but the spurt fell one run short and Wilson High gained a 5-4 decision over the Slayers here yesterday.

It was the third straight loss in L-N competition for the Slayers, while the victory was the second for Wilson.

Bangor could not muster an attack that gave more than one run. The Slayers tallied once in the third, fourth, sixth and seventh innings. One of them coming on a homer by Tom Menhennit.

Brian Jones and Bob Reimer shared the hill chores for Bangor with Jones the loser. Ted Gross went all the way for Wilson to gain the win.

Phillies Hope Seven Rooks Bloom After 'Swing Around'

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, May 2 (AP)—"Wait until they make the circuit twice" is what veteran major league observers tell you about rookies who bloom in the spring.

The Philadelphia Phillies know the saying and owner Bob Carpenter and general manager Roy Hamey are watching anxiously. The Phillies have seven first year men blooming this May, the first decent crop since 1918, when the Whiz Kids who won the pennant in 1950 began to ripen.

Back in 1948, the late Herb Pennock had brought in Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons, Richie Ashburn, Willie Jones, Stan Lopata, Bob Miller, etc. Two years later, ahead of schedule, these kids produced a National League flag. But something happened. The farms went dry. What appeared to be another baseball dynasty in the making crumbled and turned to nothing.

After years of trying to carry the ball himself, Carpenter hired Hamey from the New York Yankees and made him general manager. Assignment: Rebuild those farms. Develop kids again. Give the Phillies a foundation that will be solid. Hamey said the job would take at least five years.

Now, in 1957, the plan is beginning to jell.

Ed Bouchee, Harry Anderson, Don Cardwell, Bob Bowman, Dick Farrell, Seth Morehead, Jack Sanford, average age about 24, are the prospective Whiz Kids of 1959. Each has shown great promise. This could be the finest rookie crop in either league, the New York Yankees notwithstanding.

In the 19 years the American Hockey League has been in existence, the Cleveland Barons have taken part in the playoffs 17 times.

Sugar Ray Sitting On Top World; Ponders Basilio Go

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson is sitting on top of the world again, but he doesn't want to be rushed into a potential million dollar match with welterweight champion Carmen Basilio after his stunning knockout of Gene Fullmer.

The renowned middleweight champion and his numerous handlers presided at a news conference in his hotel room after Robinson had visited a Catholic seminary in suburban Westmont.

Earlier surmises that Robinson and Basilio would meet in a mid-July bout, possibly at Yankee Stadium, got a dash of cold water from Robinson.

"It's no good in July," said Robinson, without conceding he was anxious to make this big money bout. "Everybody is out of town. You draw better in September."

That there will be prolonged wrangling over terms is obvious. Said Joe Glaser, Robinson's "financial" manager: "Basilio must be made to realize that Robinson is holding a royal flush."

The Basilio camp got into the act. "We'll take nothing worse than a 30-30 percentage split right down the middle, chorused Johnny DeJohn and Joe Netro, co-managers of Basilio.

"My fellow is the champion, too," said Netro. "We're not interested in the middleweight title as much as the gate. We'd like to fight him as soon as possible."

"I wasn't overly impressed," said Basilio. "He (Robinson) can be hit by combinations. I picked Fullmer but I was rooting for Robinson because I thought we'd draw a better gate. A fellow can't stand back and give Robinson punching room. You've got to get inside."

It will be a pleasure to lick him," Basilio still recalls a time in 1952 when he introduced himself to Robinson on Broadway and got the brush off.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a first-name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right, numerical order, until you find your letter. Count the letters in your key number. These read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Plan Addition To Barrett War Memorial

CRESCO—Final plans for an addition to the Barrett Township War Memorial were drawn up this week at a meeting of the Rotary Club of the Pocono Mountains.

The memorial is located on the grounds of Barrett Township School. It now contains the names of all residents who served during World War One.

According to the blueprint outlined by a committee for the club, the monument will be enlarged so that sufficient space is available for plaques containing the names of all those who served in the armed forces during World War Two and the Korean conflict.

Every Name
A serious problem in planning the memorial is to be sure that the name of every resident who served in the two wars is included, a club spokesman said. The club has a list which it believes to be fairly accurate, and it is having copies of the list prepared.

These copies will be placed in stores and other places throughout the district. All residents are asked to examine the list and make sure that the name of each person who was in service is included.

Lists will be on display for two weeks. Anyone knowing a name which does not appear should contact Joseph J. Vogt and give Vogt the necessary information.

Preliminary estimates place costs of the memorial at $1,000. Plans and specifications are now being drawn up for bids.

When the memorial is completed, a program of dedication will be scheduled. Veterans, civic and fraternal groups in the community will be invited to take part.

Industrial Development Corporation Formed By Delegates Of Newfoundland Area Units

NEWFOUNDLAND—This mountain community—taking in Newfoundland, South Sterling, Angels, Greene Township, Greentown and nearly a dozen surrounding areas—has taken a concrete step toward encouraging industrial development.

At a meeting this week at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School, delegates of area organizations selected eight men. They will form the original incorporating body for the Community Industrial Development Corporation.

Chosen

Chosen by popular ballot were: Albert Haldeman, Greentown, and Marvin Woltjen, Panther, for Greene Township; Robert Shupe and Willis Gilpin, both Newfoundland, for Dreher Township; Francis Curtis, Angels, for Sterling Township; Thomas Gangewere, Greentown, for Palmyra Township; Frank Kish Sr., Gouldsboro, for Lehigh Township and William Roman Sr., Hamlin, for Salem Township.

It was agreed by those present that the corporation will use Newfoundland as its permanent address. A charter will be drawn up immediately for the signature of the eight representatives who will form the board.

Two names for the corporation were suggested during the meeting. Both are now being studied and will be submitted later for approval. The Community Industrial Development Corporation has been used tentatively as the title.

Shawnee Cub Pack Meets

SHAWNEE — Monthly pack meeting of Cub Pack 80 was held Sunday at the parish house of Shawnee Presbyterian Church.

The month's theme was "Swiss Family Robinson". Boys of Den One pretended the parish house was their island on which they had been shipwrecked. They constructed a lean-to and fireplace and discussed how they would behave and exist if they were actually lost in the woods or elsewhere away from home.

Arthur Kroll, Cubmaster, gave a talk on "survival." He displayed a "trilobite" in "perfect condition" which he had found. He also showed an "imperfect" trilobite discovered by his son, Arthur Jr. The trilobite is a fossil in preserved stone form which in life was one of Earth's earliest life phases. Awards were presented to William Mosteller, Bobcat pin; Vance Cullen, Bobcat pin. Both are new Cubs in Den One.
